PROPOSED DAM TO RAISE WATER LEVEL IN 4 COUNTY LAKES

As the result of a survey being conducted by state engineers it is believed that a dam will be constructed at the outlet of Fourth Lake which would have the effect of raising the water level not only in this body of water but in Millmore, Druce and Third Lakes. A few years ago a plan was started to construct a dam that would have raised the level of Third Lake but the proceeding was stopped by court injunction by a property owner who feared his land would be flooded.

This year the lakes in this vicinity are at the lowest level in years and no objection is anticipated if the state decides to go ahead with the project. The proposed dam, it is said, would raise the level of Fourth lake four feet and would raise the level in other lakes so that boats could pass from Third Lake through the channel into Druce Lake.

In Antioch may be found many stores exceptionally well stocked with quality merchandise, and the values to be advertised for the special event will no doubt present strong appeal to thrifty shoppers. Watch for the announcements of special bargains for next Friday and Saturday.

Von Holwede Back From Germany

Hans Von Holwede, director of music at the Antioch Township high school, has returned after several weeks spent in Germany visiting relatives. After his sojourn in the land of Hitler, Von Holwede says he prefers the United States. Hitlerism, according to Hans, has a firm hold on the German people who are afraid to utter a remark or to raise a hand against the Chancellor. The first step toward creating this modern despotism was the muzzling of the German press. Uniforms, bought by the people themselves, marchers, regimentation are in evidence everywhere throughout Germany, Holwede says.

Annual Wisconsin- Illinois Moose Picnic To Be at Channel Lake

The annual picnic held for members of the Moose Lodges and their families from all over Illinois and Wisconsin will be held Sunday, August 5, at Howard Smith's pavilion on the south shore of Channel Lake.

The picnic is an annual affair and is held at a different place each year. Between seven hundred and one thousand people are expected, according to Sam Tarbell, a member of the committee in charge. Games and the usual picnic attractions will be held.

Other members of the committee in charge are Earl Roach and George Fairchild, Kenosha.

Marshal Peterson Off Duty for Week

Marshal Peter Peterson is observing a week's enforced vacation due to a badly swollen ankle, thought to have been caused by the recent heat wave. He has been unable to perform his duties as marshal since Monday morning, but expects to resume work within a few days.

During his absence Edgar Simonson is rendering meters, and acting as substitute.

Two Antioch High Students to Attend State Fair School

Howard Bonner and Chester Craft, seniors of the Agricultural Dept. of the Antioch High School, have received their appointment to attend the Boys' State Fair School at Springfield during the week of the fair.

Howard received his appointment through the office of the County Superintendent of Schools and Chester Craft was one of 31 boys appointed by the Director of Agriculture, at Springfield, Ill.

NUMEROUS GRASS FIRES REPORTED DURING SUMMER

Antioch Firemen Respond to Two Calls During the Week

With the exception of a number of grass fires in the vicinity of Antioch during the summer, the region has caused for congratulation in the fact that, despite the drought, there have been no very large or destructive fires.

However, caution must be exercised to maintain this record. Firemen say that the cause for the numerous grass fires is seldom revealed, but it is believed that most of the blazes result from carelessness—the flip of a cigarette stub or lighted match, or failure to keep within control a bonfire or brush fire.

The Antioch Volunteer Fire Department has responded to two calls for aid in fighting grass fires during the past week. A fire on the Phelps property, near Channel Lake, Route 173, was extinguished Saturday morning, and another at Kasperek's Subdivision on the north shore of Loon Lake was checked about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening by Antioch firemen.

Mrs. Rose Hockney, Antioch Resident 30 Years, Passes Away

Has Spent Life in Wilmot and Vicinity of Antioch

Mrs. Rose Hockney, who has been ill for several months from a heart ailment, passed away at her home on Spafford street Friday afternoon, July 27, on the anniversary of her husband's eighty-first birthday.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the home with the Rev. L. V. Sitter officiating. Mrs. O. W. Jensen, accompanied by Miss Roberta Lewis, sang two songs "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Leave It with Him." Pallbearers were her two sons, Harvey and Chester, two sons-in-law, Douglas Leese and Fred Barter, and two grandsons, Bernard and George Hockney. Interment is in the Wilmot cemetery.

Parents Wilmot Pioneers
Rose Adelaide Faulkner was born in Elgin, Ill., April 28, 1856, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Faulkner, pioneer residents of Wilmot, where they moved in 1857. She lived in Wilmot until her marriage to George Harvey Hockney May 2, 1875, after which she moved with her husband to a farm near Salem, on Route 83, in 1882.

They lived on the farm for over twenty years, moving into Antioch in 1906. Mrs. Hockney has spent the past seventeen years of her life at her home on Spafford street.

She is survived by four children: Harvey, on the farm; Mrs. F. D. Barter, Pleasant Prairie; Chester of Silver Lake; and Mrs. James H. Randall, Maxwell, California. Her husband and two children, John W. and Julia B. Leese (Mrs. Douglas Leese) preceded her in death.

She is also survived by two brothers, George and Fred Faulkner of Wilmot, ten grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Earl Pittman left Saturday for Rochester, Minn. Mrs. Pittman, who has been taking treatments at Mayo Bros. clinic for two weeks returned home with him Monday.

Mrs. Ada Verrier of Waukegan is spending the week with her daughter, Mrs. Morris Radtka.

FAMED GRASS LAKE LOTUS BEDS ATTAIN THEIR FULL BLOOM

Flowers Reach Prime; Will Remain in Bloom for a Month

The wonder spot of the Chain O' Lakes region, the famed lotus beds of Grass Lake are now in the full glory of their golden bloom, according to residents of the lake.

Although the beds will remain in bloom until the end of August, authorities on the lotus believe that the flowers have reached the height of their beauty this week. They will remain in full bloom nearly two weeks.

The Grass Lake lotus is described in the Compton Encyclopedia as the "Sacred Lotus of India" much like the Lotus of Egypt. The Lotus of the Nile, however, is more of a rose-color, while the Grass Lake "Ceylonese" and the Sacred Lotus of India are delicately cream colored.

The leaves, twelve to twenty-four inches in diameter are raised high out of the water. The blossom is from five to ten inches in diameter and is also raised well above the water on a slender stalk.

The lake region is fortunate to have these beds preserved, as the plants were almost exterminated during the summer of 1924 when a flood submerged the plants. About six years passed before the beds renewed themselves sufficiently to be enjoyed by tourists.

The 2,000 acres of lotus are said this year to have achieved the greatest profusion of bloom this year in the history of the beds.

Legion District Convention Attended By Over A Thousand

Antioch Post Colors Are Carried in the Parade

The annual Eighth District American Legion convention held at Highland Park Sunday was attended by more than a thousand county Legionnaires.

Following the conclusion of convention business at the Masonic Temple in the morning, a basket picnic was enjoyed by the Legionnaires and their families in the park.

Among the colorful events of the day was the parade held after the picnic, which included the drum and bugle corps from Charvin Post, North Chicago, Highland Juniors, Highland Park Juniors, and the Deerfield drill team and bugle corps, as well as drill teams from Lake Forest and Libertyville. The Antioch post was represented by their colors carried in mass form by Antioch members.

Vice Commander Speaks
The Illinois senior vice commander, Paul Armstrong, addressed the public meeting in the afternoon at Sunset Park, using as his theme "Americanism," in which he declared that the people of America are not fully alert to the danger of communism which is insidiously striking at the heart of American independence.

Other talks were given, pointing out the service which the Legion is rendering its disabled veterans and exhorting the public to visit institutions for mental cases to appreciate the work being done.

The afternoon session was entertained by several musical numbers by the Waukegan quartette and the Ladies' Auxiliary Glee Club, Waukegan. A ball game was staged for the benefit of the Legion between Highland Park and Highland, which Highland Park took 10-5.

Those from Antioch attending were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hills and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Klass and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Runyard and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chase and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Relake.

Speaking of Fish— Look This One Over

After reading of the fishing prowess of Antioch residents, a Chicago man comes to the fore this week with a tale of a small-mouthed black bass which he successfully outwitted Friday in Lake Marie. The fish weighed over four pounds.

The fish's captor, Edward A. Kirten, 1006 Western Avenue, a Chicago undertaker, owns a cottage on Merry Point, Lake Marie, where he has enjoyed the summer season for the past five years.

Announce Date of Farmers' Picnic

Announcement was made today that the Annual Lake County Farmers' Picnic and 4-H Round-up will be held Tuesday, August 28, at Renegade's Park, Round Lake. The picnic is sponsored by the Farm Bureau, the Home Bureau, the Pure Milk Association and the 4-H Club.

DROWNINGS FOR THE YEAR ALREADY ARE NEAR THE RECORD

Three Lose Lives When the Boat Capsizes at Gages Lake

The season's drowning toll from the county was increased to 17 Sunday, when three young persons from Chicago lost their lives in Gages Lake and a fourth was drowned in Lake Michigan.

The triple drowning at Gages Lake brought the total there to five for this summer, although in the past ten seasons there has been but one drowning. Four of the deaths there have resulted from boating accidents, in which the boats were overloaded. The three to lose their lives there Sunday were:

James Keenan, 20, of 2515 Blaine Place, Chicago.

John Petrie, 19, of 1528 Wellington avenue, Chicago.

Miss Sylvia Trush, 17, of 3040 Greenview avenue, Chicago.

These saved were: Miss Jane Pfeiffer, 19, and George Noesen, 23, both of Chicago. The five had joined a picnic of a group of fifty from the Queen of Angels parish of Chicago. The boat capsized when it shipped too much water because of repeated diving of Miss Pfeiffer.

Raft Caught in Undertow

William Michaelson, 19, of 715 S. 5th avenue, Maywood, Ill., was the youth to lose his life in Lake Michigan off the Dunes Park bathing beach near Zion. He lost his life in an attempt to save the life of his companion, Miss Dorothy Bellis, of Terre Haute, Ind. The two were on a raft when the undertow gripped it and started it lakeward. Finding that they could not stop the drift of the raft, they plunged into the water and start to swim toward shore.

Michaelson, although an excellent swimmer, appeared to become exhausted and called for help. The girl was saved by Bernard McCall of North Chicago, but the youth drowned before help could reach him. His body was not recovered until seven o'clock Monday morning.

Fear New Drowning Record

With the bathing season barely half over, the number of drownings in Lake county up to August 1 already has reached a total of 17 for the current season. This is but four less than the total number for last year and the year before and but one less than for 1930. All records for drownings in Lake County were shattered in 1929 when the total was 23. Fear is expressed that an all-time record will be established this year if the proportion for the latter half of the season is equal to that of the first. Records of Coroner J. L. Taylor show that few of this year's drowning tragedies were due to swimming, most of the victims being occupants of crowded boats or those who took chances by rocking boats.

Business College to Start 41st Year

Otis L. Trenary, principal of the Kenosha College of Commerce, has announced the opening of his school Sept. 4, the beginning of the first year of that institution.

"Man's first duty is to take himself off the back of society," Trenary writes in his school literature, and how well he succeeded in helping young people become independent is attested by the fact that 100 of his graduates were employed last year and are carrying on for themselves. Among graduates of the school are found many persons prominent in business, politics, and finance.

Among the 1934 graduates is Miss Marguerite Griffin, of Salem, Wis., a graduate of the Antioch high school, and also Arthur Bloes of Salem.

The College of Commerce is now located on the first floor of the Civic Center building at the northwest corner of Kenosha's beautiful civic center. Noiseless typewriters and the most modern equipment is used in the school.

Dorothy and Helen Hoey, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Hoey of Chicago, were taken ill with the measles while visiting at the summer cottage of their grandparents at Loon Lake. Mrs. Hoey was formerly Miss Dorothy Banks.

THE SHIFTING OF THE HEMISPHERES

In a recent address, James S. Carson, Chairman of the Council on Inter-American Relations, said: "The West is to play a new role on the world stage. The great war caused a shifting of the hemispheres. The New will supplant the Old in a leadership which will usher in a different concept in international relations and commercial exchanges. The actual war did not end with the signing of the Armistice, but we believe its termination is dimly visible today. Inter-Americanism will finally point the way to stop the ruthless economic struggle which has been designated 'the War After the War.' If this be true, the long labor pains caused by the birth of this new epoch will not have been suffered in vain."

It seems an axiom that intense nationalism, as pursued by many of the great European powers today, is productive of nothing save chaos—and there is good reason to believe that the peoples of the world will at last turn for relief to an enlightened nationalism such as concerns Mr. Carson. The rigors of military war are not greater than those of economic war.

Friendliness and cooperation between nations is vital to world stability, world progress, world welfare.

The holding back of the corn-hog checks by the Washington administration so the farmers will get them just before election, is having an effect opposite to that desired by the Democrats. The national administration is making a business transaction look like political bribery.

INVESTIGATING "GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS"

An article in the Chicago Journal of Commerce announces that government competition with private business, as illustrated by the Tennessee Valley electric project, is to be investigated by a committee selected from the board of directors of the Illinois Manufacturers Association.

The committee will visit Muscle Shoals and other parts of area under review, and report to the association, with particular attention paid to the following points:

1. How competition from the Federal government affects private utilities and the power-using public.
2. The effect upon industry of the government's selling electric appliances at very low prices.
3. The effect of the project upon the fertilizer industry.
4. The extent to which the plan has influenced or may be expected to influence the location of industries in the area.
5. The relation of the project to agriculture.
6. The possible effect of the project on taxation.

and in further extending government competition with existing private industries.

That report, if it is dispassionate and factual, will be of great value to a public which is confused by differing arguments and opposed political and industrial philosophies. It must be remembered that the Tennessee Valley project in itself is of no great importance; it is, however, vastly important as an indication of a trend which might eventually cover the country with tax-free, publicly-financed industries competing with heavily-taxed, privately-financed, existing businesses. The problems of employment, investment, taxation, industrial expansion, are inextricably tied up with this greater problem.

There was never a time when it was more important to cast light on places which, to most people, are dark and hidden.

Gov. Horner is reliably reported to be getting ready to throw his low crowned derby into the ring as a candidate for United States senator in 1936. Maybe he thinks the people will vote for him just to get him out of the state, but the voters are not mad enough yet to play that kind of a trick on President Roosevelt.

PRAISE FOR CO-OPERATIVE MANAGEMENT

In a recent speech, Chester C. Davis, Agricultural Adjustment Administration director, said that the history of dairy co-operatives shows that the following four main objectives have been reached:

A larger share of consumer's dollar for the producer; elimination of unfair and destructive practices in distribution and processing; development of leadership able to cope with leaders of agencies with which a cooperative must deal; extending to all producers in a given market the responsibility for doing their part to maintain stability.

Achievements like these, made during some of the most trying years the nation has ever passed through, show on what a sound foundation the cooperative movement rests. It has always been a stabilizing influence; it will be remembered that during the farm riots of a few months ago the major co-ops did as much as any agency, private or official, to bring order out of chaos. It has never been swayed by giddy theories; instead it has kept firmly to the line of proven methods and time-tested ideas.

If the cooperatives can accomplish so much during bleak depression, it is difficult to exaggerate their potential achievements. The American farmer has real cause for feeling confidence in the future.

THE GROUND FLOOR

Most observers believe that recovery will come slowly, and that there is little fear that any severe setbacks to the progress already made will occur.

If that is true, there is one investment the far-sighted citizen can make that will bring him "dividends"—a modern home. It will give his family something that cannot be adequately measured in dollars and cents—a higher standard of living. And, through the act of building it, he will stimulate recovery. No dollar we spend does more to provide employment and to stimulate industry than the construction dollar.

Prices are rising, and strong forces, backed by government itself, are attempting to accelerate their rate of climb. Build now—and "get in on the ground floor."

Dragon's Sword Found
What is declared to be a dragon's sword of the Seventeenth century period, and probably a relic of the Commonwealth days, was found at Stone house, Scotland, by two school boys. The sword was firmly incased in what appeared to be a leather scabbard, but so rotted it that it fell to pieces when the weapon was withdrawn. The blade is hooked, heavily rusted and measures 30 inches from hilt to tip.

Romance Everywhere
One constantly hears that "the romance of discovery is dead." But nothing could be farther from the truth. Only the other day a school-girl recognized a stone lying under a hedge near Maldstone as a fine Stone age ax. Could You Build a Log Cabin?

IN the days of Daniel Boone people west of the Alleghenies built their own log cabins. Finance was a simple matter, too, for every family supplied most of its own wants.

You do not try to build a log cabin today, even if you could. The beautiful home, which you employ an architect to design and a contractor, masons, carpenters, plumbers, and electricians to build, is much more comfortable.

Likewise, the modern man of affairs seeks help in planning investments or the conserving of his estate. It gives you security and prestige to have the First National Bank as your financial ally.

Trench Silo One Means Of Saving Withering Corn

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 2, 1934.—With Illinois' corn crop threatened by the prolonged drought as well as the most serious chinch bug infestation in half a century, many farmers of the state may be able to save the maximum amount of their corn by constructing trench silos, suggests E. W. Lehmann, head of the agricultural engineering department at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Reports indicate that the corn stalks are beginning to dry up in some areas. If extreme heat and dry weather should continue, farmers will want to take immediate steps to conserve as much of their corn as possible in the form of silage. In such cases, mimeographed instructions on digging trench silos, published by the U. of I. College of Agriculture will be of considerable value.

A trench silo is merely a large ditch with the ends on an incline so that a team or tractor may be driven through it. Practically all construction may be done with a slip scraper and consequently the expense is extremely small. The slightly sloping sides are later smoothed off with a spade.

The size of the trench will, of course, depend upon the amount of livestock to be fed from it and the condition of the silage at the time of cutting. A good-sized trench is about 8 feet deep, 5 feet wide across the bottom of the trench and 10 to 12 feet wide across the top. The length will depend on the amount of silage to be put up. If allowance is made for spoilage, 60 to 80 cubic feet will be required to store a ton of silage for feeding.

Selection of a site with good drainage is important in constructing a trench silo. A soil which is too sandy or one in which the water table is too high is not satisfactory. An objection against trench silos is the accumulation of water when there is a heavy rainfall. This can be overcome to a large extent by laying a drain under the trench, or perhaps the trench can be located so that the lower end opens onto a slope.

Because trench silos are not very deep, the silage does not pack much by its own weight, and thus should be tramped by men, animals or a tractor during and after filling. It keeps best if covered with straw and then several inches of dirt to make a rounded top to shed water.

More detailed information relative to the construction of trench silos may be obtained by writing the agricultural engineering department at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, Urbana.

Metals in Powdered Form
One development of the metallurgical industry is the manufacture of several metals in pulverized form in which shape they are applied to other metal surfaces by the spraying method. Nickel, chromium, silver, platinum and other metals have been very successfully made use of in this shape, but the greatest demand is for copper. There has been created a demand for 3,000,000 pounds of powdered copper annually.

NEW SALADS LEAD HOT WEATHER MENUS

Healthful Vegetables and Fruits Form Large Part of Salads

There's never a season goes by but a hostess must tax her ingenuity to the utmost to supply her guests or family with a salad which is refreshing and not too distressfully in common use. For this reason, new salad recipes and salad dressings are hailed with delight by women upstairs and down.

Here are several:

German Cabbage Salad
6 to 8 slices of bacon cubed
2 or three tablespoons of lemon juice or vinegar
1/2 teaspoon of salt
1/2 cupful of thick mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing
2 cupfuls of shredded cabbage
4 tablespoonfuls of chopped green pepper

2 tablespoonfuls of parsley (if desired)
1 tablespoonful of diced onion.
Place the cubed bacon in a skillet and fry until crisp but do not burn. Add the lemon juice or vinegar and salt. Stir well and add to the mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing. Stir at once into the cabbage, which has had the green pepper, parsley, and onion added. This salad is served warm. If desired, it may be returned to the warm skillet and allowed to become more wilted. This salad is particularly good with browned potatoes or a pork dinner. The quantities given here are sufficient to serve four to six persons easily.

Grapefruit and Orange Salad
Peel 2 small grapefruit and separate into sections without a trace of the white skin. Peel 2 large oranges and separate the sections as directed above. The sections may be rolled in granulated or powdered sugar. If desired, on individual beds of lettuce, arrange alternate sections of grapefruit and orange, either to resemble the petals of flowers, with a fresh strawberry and mayonnaise as an axis, or grouped so as to resemble half an orange, pressing the sections firmly together. Serve at once with a suitable fruit salad dressing. Use the "Honey Dressing" or a thick, sweet French Dressing for this salad. Honey or Maple Fruit Salad Dressing

Heat 1/4 cupful of strained honey or maple syrup to scalding temperature and then add gradually to 3 beaten egg yolks. Beat this until smooth and cook in a double boiler until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Remove from the stove and add 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls of lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoonful of salt, and 1/4 teaspoonful of celery salt. Mix these ingredients thoroughly and cool, then fold into 1/2 cupful of heavy cream, whipped stiff. We prefer this dressing over fruit.

Tomato Mayonnaise.
2 medium-size, firm tomatoes.
Yolks from 2 hard-cooked eggs
1 raw egg yolk
1/2 teaspoonful of salt
2 drops of Tabasco sauce (may be omitted)
1/2 cupful of salad oil
1 teaspoonful of scraped onion
1 tablespoonful of vinegar (if desired)

Makes 1/2 pint
Dip the tomatoes in scalding water long enough to loosen the skins. Drop in cold water to cool, then peel. Cut into halves, crosswise, and with the pointed tip of a spoon lift out the seeds. Place in a bowl and chop very fine, then drain in a sieve while preparing the rest of the dressing. Mash the cooked egg yolk, salt, and Tabasco sauce and beat vigorously.

Color In Table Linen Now The Mode

Crashes, Plaids and Checks Are Found in Best of Homes

If you're wondering what to give the bride at a shower, or mother or sister for her birthday, or how to rejuvenate a room or suite for the remainder of the summer, the following vogue in household linens as outlined in a current magazine may attract your interest.

For a sophisticated table, consider the polka dot linen sets in vivid red, blue, black, or green, sprinkled with dainty size white polka dots. Such a set, with a bold bouquet of golden zinnias, will create real atmosphere.

Or there are the tavern cloths—really just large checks or plaids in strident colors—usually about four colors to the cloth. The red-and-white, two-inch checks cut with a thin black line are very popular.

These cloths are made up of cotton or linen crash, or a mixture, as cotton dyes into the more brilliant colors well. Fringed sets are popular, but some women prefer the hemmed sets, as the fringe tends to mat in the washing. To prevent matting, shake the goods when wet, or brush when dry with a stiff brush.

Russian linens flash their daring colors on smart tables. One of burnt sienna, cloth and napkins, has embroidered border and corner decorations in vivid blue, green, brown and white.

Back to Grandma's Day.

Colonial furnishings have revived the demand for "grandma's old fashioned" checks and florals. Instead of the dull "turkey red" and "indigo blue" which "went with" grandma's old ironstone china or milk glass, we have lighter, brighter, cheerier tones that are prettier with our modern china. The design is the same quaintly smart checkerboard with its tiny incorporated flower face. The red, for instance, woven with the white, gives a delightful three tone effect of bright red, pink, and white.

The damask also comes in other snappy colors. The goods is mercerized to give it luster. It is a strong-wearing, twill weave and comes in an all-over pattern so it can be cut to advantage for table-cloths and napkins. Some women are making of blue. Select warp that is evenly spun and lightly twisted, for such, as grandma used to say, will wear like iron. Some thrifty women use tying twine for their sets. You'd be surprised how good looking it is.

Lace dressed tables look luxurious whether mercerized flax, hand-tied lace cloth, or manufactured sets are used. Natural color or ecru in both border and medallion, or border and all-over patterns are shown. Some women say they "wash like sheeting," and look lovelier than ever after the tub. Italian hemstitched linens

Crocheting Returns

Crochet sets, still another summer table mode, are smart again. Make the mats large enough to accommodate the whole plate service for the meal; plate, coffee cup, water glass, and the silver.

If you use crocheted cotton, a highly mercerized yarn will give you a lustrous, lacy looking set. Carpet warp in cream white makes a rich, heavy lace mat almost wear-proof. For an oriental color scheme, combine yellow with reddish brown and a touch

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

SOME believe that any one who can boil water can cook corn on the cob. How many a tender ear of corn has been allowed to toughen through long keeping or faulty cooking no one will ever know. In the first place, fresh corn will not remain succulent long after it is pulled from the stalk. If you can get it in the pot the evening of the morning it was picked so much the better. Straight from the stalk to the pot is a delight that only home gardeners can enjoy.

Try this method next time you have corn on the cob. Place the ears in a large pot of boiling water to which has been added a tablespoon of granulated sugar. Young corn will cook perfectly in five minutes. More mature corn requires from eight to ten minutes. Do not salt the water as salt has a tendency to toughen corn. Sugar brings out its natural sweetness. If desired, salt the corn at the table.

Did You Know That

To peel onions tearlessly, hold them under water and peel from root toward stem?

If apples are dipped in boiling water for a moment the skin will peel off like a tomato when scalded, leaving always set delightful, thoroughly modern summer tables.

Oil cloths and water proof fabrics make smart table appointments, even entire kitchen ensembles."

ing the apple smooth and red?

A Hungarian scientist has discovered paprika contains Vitamin O. It has already been found that our own Georgia-grown pimientos (a ready known to contain Vitamin O) are generously supplied with Vitamin A, perhaps as much as in cod liver oil. Now you have an extra reason for using these colorful garnishes.

Famous French Chef Reveals His Method of Fixing a Brand New Summer Salad

By Theophile Kieffer
Maitre de Cuisine
Sherry Netherland Hotel

THERE are many who think that the creation of a brand new dish by the chef de cuisine at a well-known hotel is a casual and routine matter. Let me assure you that this is not so.

Visiting diplomats and smart families throughout the country are accustomed to find here a cuisine of surpassing and distinctive excellence. Thus, I find it necessary to experiment constantly, not only with new dishes, but with basic new food ingredients with which to prepare tempting new dishes.

Follows Laws of French Cuisine

These experiments are guided by laws which govern the highest French cuisine. They require a basic knowledge of food chemistry. They also draw heavily upon a chef's experience in combining one food with another. They take into most careful consideration the nutritional elements of each food and pay particular attention to the balanced nutritional properties of the finished dish.

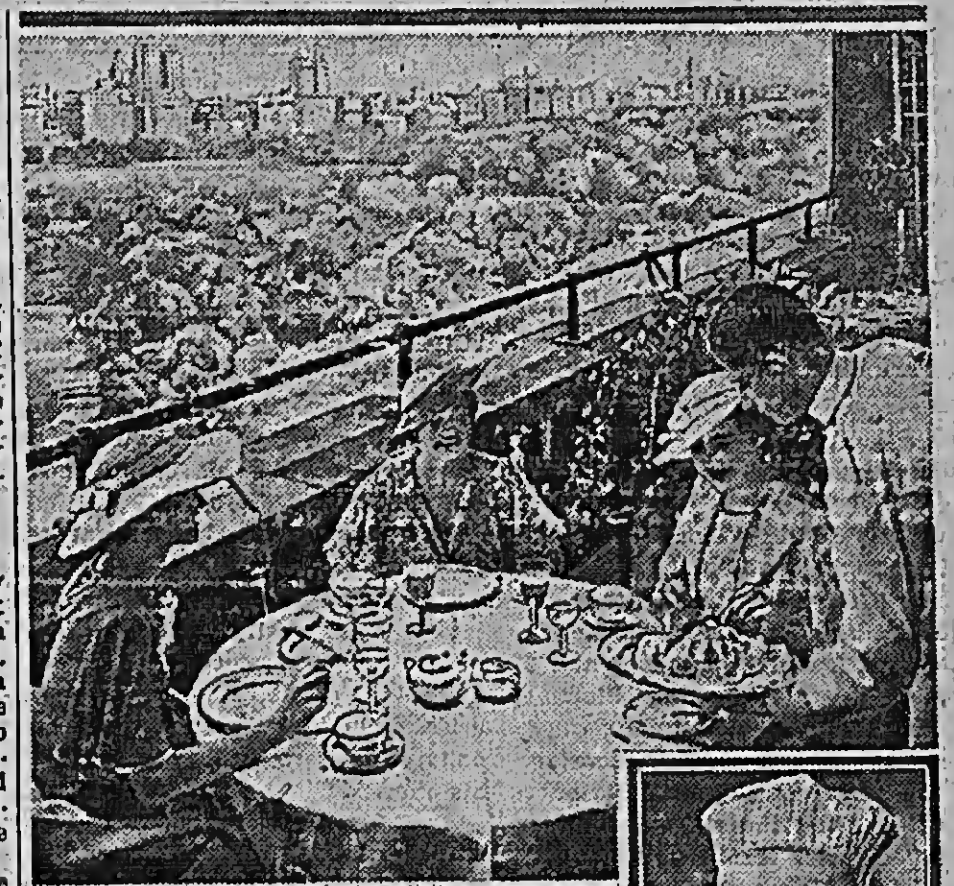

I selected Brazil Nuts for these experiments because of their general popularity and because their use promised to add desirable "chewiness" to any dish in which they were used. I found the nuts rich in oil. Thus it was unnecessary to consider the further use of oil in preparing the dressing.

Flavor Blending Important

To realize fully upon the flavor of these popular nuts, I selected pineapple as the chief complementary ingredient. The blending was pleasant, particularly when the nuts were shredded and the pineapple prepared in julienne.

The final result is a truly distinctive dish with a flavor entirely its own. It is pleasing and cool to the taste. It arouses the sluggish palate with a flavor not soon to be forgotten.

Before presenting this dish for service, I had every one of my best assistants sample the flavor and express his opinion thereof. Then came the final endorsement—the critical judgment of Joseph, maitre de hotel. He—Joseph—knows his food like a book. When he smacked his lips and came back for two, three more forkfuls, I knew that Brazil Nut Salad was off to a flying start.

My own original recipe follows:

Brazil Nut Salad Theophile
1/2 pound Brazil Nuts
1 small pineapple
Curry powder
1 hard-boiled egg

For a dish for four persons, first shred one-half pound of Brazil Nuts. Now cut up a small pineapple in julienne; that is to say, in lengths of an inch or more, sliced into fine strips. Next cut up some pimiento in large dices, add a dash of curry powder—no more than can be put on the tip of the blade of a pocket knife—and add the juice of a lemon, a pinch of salt and one-quarter pint of heavy cream. Mix well. Dress in a salad bowl with the leaves from a heart of small crisp lettuce, and decorate with pimientos in cubes, slices of two hard-boiled eggs, and Brazil Nuts cut in half lengthwise.

Plummer Must Pin Jim Twice in 60 Minutes To Win Purse and Glory

Lou Wants New Referee for Round Lake Match Friday

OTHER MAT GREATS ON CLASSY CARD

Another capacity crowd of local wrestling fans are expected to pack Renehan's open air arena at Round Lake, Friday night, this time to watch Lou Plummer attempt the Herculean feat of beating his rival of long standing, Jim McMillen, two straight falls in sixty minutes and thereby gain the title of the heavy-weight wrestling champion of Lake County.

This will be the second tilt of the local greats at the Round Lake arena. In their first match, the Antioch star flattened Plummer after a terrific battle that lasted 34 minutes and 22 seconds. In this meeting Plummer had McMillen's shoulders dangerously close to the mat on several occasions, but the referee, who was closer to the action than the ringside spectators, failed to see McMillen down.

Lou Makes Challenge

Immediately after the match, Waukegan Lou put up a tremendous squawk claiming that he pinned the Antioch ace twice during the fray but Charlie Levine, the referee, refused to award him the match because McMillen had too many friends in the crowd.

Then Lou challenged Jim for another match but to no avail. McMillen refused to have anything further to do with the powerful Waukegan lad. On the Round Lake card two weeks later, both Plummer and McMillen received headline spots on the program in a double main event.

Winner Take All

Lou met and defeated that great Texan giant grappler, Dick Raines, and McMillen threw Sol Slagel the contortionist. Immediately after McMillen won his bout, Plummer jumped into the ring and challenged Antioch's pride to match in which he offered to pin McMillen twice in one hour or give him his entire end of the purse.

McMillen merely laughed at this challenge as he doubted Plummer really meant it. None of the spectators could really believe the 240 pound star was sincere in his offer that night, so it came as a big surprise when Lou posted a hundred dollars as a forfeit to go through with his offer.

Posts Forfeit

When McMillen got word that Plummer has posted a forfeit to show his willingness to wrestle, Jim was quick to accept the match under these terms. He posted a like forfeit with the matchmaker and the pair were staged.

Upon signing, Lou demanded that

Deerfield to Be Guests of Locals Here Next Sunday

The Antioch Aces swamped the Round Lake Athletics here last Sunday, 22 to 10, in a game featured by heavy hitting on both sides. Ace batters chalked up 25 safe drives to their opponents' six. Nelson and Lasco were credited with doubles and Hanke a home run.

Next Sunday the Aces will play the Deerfield team at Antioch, Box Score.

a referee other than Lavino officiate this match. Monday he went before the Illinois State Athletic Commission and asked for another referee. Mr. Joseph Traier, Chairman of the Commission made it clear to Lou that neither a promoter nor a wrestler had the right or authority to name the official to referee but he would consider the controversy and the night of the match have a suitable third man in the ring.

Indian to Wrestle

While the County wrestling interest is centered in this local classic, the fine preliminary program of matches are also attracting great attention. "Gentleman" Jack Smith, Post's physical culturist and Chicago's leading matman, will wrestle Tommy Martin, Oklahoma Indian in the semi-windup. Smith, one of the cleanest and most sportsmanlike of the pro grapplers, will be meeting one of the roughest men in the game. Dick Raines, the 252 pound Texas star who met defeat at the hands of Lou Plummer on the last Round Lake Card, will meet Ole Olson, powerful Swedish facekick artist from Milwaukee. The opening match will feature Hans Bauer, German Strong Man, and Charlie Petersen, Pistakee Bay veteran who is out for a chance at the Lake County Championship.
